The K.H.S.A.A. Is

There seems to be a misconception in some areas, as to the purpose, the structure, the duties, and powers of the Association. Frequently it is said by the news media, laymen and sometimes school people that the "K.H.S.A.A. said" "the K.H.S.A.A. did not," and "the K.H.S.A.A. will not." What does this mean? What is the K.H.S.A.A.? The inference of such statements is that the Association is a small group of individuals at the top, imposing and dictating their policy to all involved in interscholastic athletics. Nothing is further from the truth.

In 1917 a group of educators met to discuss the growing problems of athletics. The eighteen schools represented were the charter members of the K.H.S.A.A. Since that time the number has increased to include all the accredited high schools. In 1936-37 there were 572 but consolidation of schools has caused the number to decrease to 329 in 1973-74. The Constitution and By-Laws adopted at that time stated its object shall be the development, regulation and purification of the athletic activities in this state.

The authorization for the Association's existence is K.R.S. 156.160. It states in part "No individual should represent a school in games, meets or tournaments unless the activities are conducted by appropriate secondary school authorities and the Kentucky High School Athletic Association." Resolution of the State Department states that no school shall engage in interscholastic athletics unless it is a member of the Association. A Federal Court Decree in 1971 indicated that the Association was accountable to the State Department of Education. The assets of the Association belong to the member schools as indicated in the Constitution as to their disposal if the Association should be dissolved. The State Superintendent of Public Instruction's representative is present at meetings of the Board of Control.

The structure of the Association has not changed, in general, since its inception. Each school joins the Association annually through its principal. The Constitution and By-Laws are determined by a Delegate Assembly at an annual meeting. This group is composed of one representative for each of the sixty-four basketball districts, each delegate being elected by the principals of the schools in the district.

The Constitution provides for the creation of a Board of Control composed of eight principals and two blacks, who are certified employees of a Board of Education. The Directors are elected by the principals and can serve only one four year term. Each of the eight principals represent two of the sixteen basketball regions. Each black director represents eight regions. Some of the powers of the Board of Control are the general supervision of the Association, employ the executives, establish tournaments and meets, and decide all questions and perform duties not provided for in the Constitution.

The Commissioner and Assistants are employed by the Board of Control. The duties of the Commissioner are set forth in the Constitution, some being to act as executive officer, prepare and receive reports, interpret the Constitution, enforce penalties provided, conduct meets and tournaments, register officials and conduct rules clinics. The powers of the Commissioner are specific and he is bound by the rules of the Association in that he can not change or set aside any regulation unless it so states in the By-Laws. In interpreting the rules regarding a contestant's eligibility as pertains to age, number of semesters, preceding semester enrollment, current semester grades, scholarship and transfer, he is governed by the rules.

Numerous other items are spelled out as to the number of contests, interstate contests, post-season games, all-star games, practice of sportsmanship, duties of the principal and all the tournament and meet regulations governing all sports. These things are determined by the rules and not by the whim of the Commissioner or Board of Control.

When it is heard that the Commissioner or the Association declared an athlete ineligible it should be understood that it was not a "ruling" but a rule that made him ineligible. And remember the rules are made by the leaders of the educational program for all the member schools. Who else should be better qualified to make the rules and regulations for interscholastic athletics than these people.
